Art Phillips

Two-time Emmy winner, APRA award winner and composer for a myriad of TV series and movies in Australia and the US, Art Phillips began his career in LA in the '70s. Art made a name for himself as one of LA's top session guitarists, working and performing with the likes of Barry Manilow, Minnie Riperton, Demis Roussos, The Carpenters, Smokey Robinson, Dory Previn, Burl Ives and The Lettermen.

Art's composition credits include the original music for the US television series Santa Barbara, he penned the R&B single Here We Go for Minnie Riperton and the Motown Record release Now That I Have You for recording artist Teena Marie. There is an endless list of Australian-made TV shows and films he's worked on including Channel Nine's Missing Persons Unit, ABC's The Flying Vet and Outback House, SBS documentary Dead Tired, Made in China, The Secret Lives of Sleepwalkers, Neighbours, and Lost Treasure of Fiji.

Art is the immediate past president of the Australian Guild of Screen Composers (2001-2008), and is a councillor for the Music Council of Australia representing 'Music in Film and Television'. Visit Art's website for more information about this famous composer or watch him perform selections from his new CD, Chitarre Acustiche d'Italia. His music will transport you into the heart and soul of Italy.
